On-the-road assistance

The BMW Roadside Assistance Program is there to help in the event of a flat tire or dead battery. We'll even supply you with fuel (at your cost) if your BMW runs out of gas. Although these services are not covered under the BMW New Vehicle Limited Warranty, they are provided as part of the BMW Roadside Assistance Program, with a maximum of $100 in coverage per incident. You – or the person driving your BMW – are responsible for any expenses related to parts, materials or fuel.

Lock-out service

Your BMW is equipped with an advanced entry system, which cannot be bypassed by traditional locksmith methods without significant damage to your vehicle. BMW encourages you to always carry your spare wallet key separately from your other keys. However, in the event that you find yourself locked out, a simple telephone call to Roadside Assistance will help you get back on the road. A representative will help you find transportation or arrange towing service to the nearest BMW center. Related towing costs will be compensated up to $100 per incident. You – or the person driving your vehicle – are responsible for any expenses related to replacement keys.

BMW Roadside Assistance – ready when you need us

Towing service

If your vehicle should break down while covered under warranty or require towing after an accident or collision, it will be transported to the nearest authorized BMW center. You may also elect to have your BMW towed to the BMW center of your choice, provided that the center is within a 50-mile radius of the closest center.

Emergency Valet service

This emergency valet service is available in the event you require services beyond BMW Roadside Assistance. If you should experience a mechanical breakdown and need alternate transportation, Emergency Valet service provides a personal assistant who will help you locate the appropriate rental car, taxi, lodging and/or airline reservations. This specialist can also provide enhanced directory service assistance to assist you in determining the location you request. He or she will even notify up to three family members or colleagues to inform them of your delay. Most importantly, you are assured of personal assistance until all your needs are met.

Trip-interruption benefits

If you should experience a breakdown covered by warranty 100 miles or more away from home, you are entitled to trip-interruption benefits, including reimbursement for meals, lodging, car rentals and/or substitute transportation.

This coverage is limited to a reimbursement up to $1,000 per incident, up to five days from disablement date. Claims for these benefits must include original receipts for services provided (i.e., meals, lodging, car rentals and/or substitute transportation).

Personalized trip routing

Leave the planning to us. We'll provide you with free, detailed, easy-to-read, computerized trip itineraries and companion maps when you are planning a trip. Simply give one of our BMW Roadside Assistance service representatives a call, and we will send you a travel package.

Sign and drive

Typically, if you are within the terms of your warranty, the services you receive under the BMW Roadside Assistance Program will not require payment. In most cases, you will simply sign a receipt from the provider of services.
